COUNCIL DISCUSSES NEW LIQUOR LAW

Monday evening a sort of overflow meeting was held by the city council when the ordinance for the regulation of the liquor traffic was discussed. The meeting room was uncomfortably crowded and many stood upon the staircase until the chairman requested those seated to move forward and allow the others to line up along the wall. When the proposed law was brought forward members of the board had held a caucus and considered several features in the ordinance that had been most generally contested by the saloon men as onerous and as working an injury to persons and property. These were the clauses referring to the number of signers; the requirement of a surety company for bonds; and the refusal of a license to saloons within 200 feet of a public school.

With regard to the latter section, Mr. Merrill stated that it had been decided to eliminate it from the ordinance, but he informed licensees that at the expiration of a year, an amendment would be made to the ordinance, in which this section would be incorporated and licensees would be refused to any person within the zone of 200 feet from any public school or church.

The reason for the elimination of the clause and the giving of this notice is so that saloon keepers can fully understand that liquor selling will not be allowed in the proximity to a school house, while at the same time allowing them sufficient time to dispose of their stock or secure other locations.

The chairman further said that drunken men are often seen around these saloons and that their filthy language can be plainly heard in school rooms when windows are open. Sometime men are seen sleeping out on the sidewalks on the sidewalks.

Besides the ultimatum given these saloon men, they will virtually be on probation during the year and the manner in which they conduct their saloons will be taken into consideration when a license is applied for to continue in business at any point.

With regard to the number of signers, this clause has been modified so that seven signatures are sufficient upon an application for license.

There having been some fear that it is impossible to secure a bond by a surety company, the chairman stated that a bond could be secured for $5 per year.

After the chairman had closed his speech it appeared that the wind had been taken out of the sails of the opposition for the sections of which he had spoken were the ones which had been most hotly argued, and it was some time before anyone arose to speak on the matter.

Finally Geo. C. Ross called attention to the back door clause and said that every saloon in town had a back door for other uses than the transaction of business. Mr. Merrill explained that the clause referred to rear and side entrances to the saloon for the purpose of getting drinks on the sly, and not for any other purpose.

Geo. W. Lovie said that he was glad the saloon keepers were getting a dressing down as they needed it. That the officers should report every case where liquor is sold to a minor or to a drunkard and if there are not enough officers to see that the ordinance is carried out, get more. At the same time in his opinion the fee was too large to start with. Make it $250 for a year and then increase it.

P. P. Chamberlain and Guy P. Hull were also in favor of $250 for the first year. They also favored the issue of special permits by a majority of the trustees after twenty-four hours notice of desire to procure permit had been given.

W. J. Plump spoke in favor of permits for celebrations and all night balls.

L. Brant, secretary of the Royal Arch desired the board to alter the section allowing liquor licenses to restaurants, so that only wine or beer in unbroken bottles could be sold, and thus prevent them from becoming ex-officio saloons.

Geo. C. Ross then took the floor and stated that he represented several property owners who leased saloons and said that he had been chiefly instrumental in having the schools placed where they now are, but that he did not think that by doing so he would be causing the depreciation of the value of the surrounding property which had been used for saloon purposes for years, but now must be closed. That the proximity to the courthouse had been one of the principal reasons that had caused the saloons to be located where they are and it was a benefit to those who drink to be able to relieve their thirst as well as their hunger, without going too great a distance. The Lee property was not entitled to consideration as the building had been erected there after the schools had been built, but those which had been there first should be allowed to stay. As to the fee for a license it should be kept up. Mr. Merrill replied to Mr. Ross and said that he believed the property of Mrs. Dugan, (St. Charles Hotel) could on account of its closeness to the courthouse be put to a better use by being occupied by offices instead of a barroom. That he considered a saloon in proximity to the courthouse almost as great a menace to morality as its nearness to a school. Only a few days ago a lawyer from Palo Alto had lost his position, and the people there have been blaming Redwood for getting him drunk, and this might not have happened if the saloon and courtroom had not been so close together. As to the first corner, the American Indian was here first, but there is no question about him having to go.

Dr. J. L. Ross said that although he was the proprietor of a building in which a saloon was located, he could use it for some other purpose, but he believed that the license should be graduated commencing at $250 and increasing $25 yearly until $500 would be charged.

The chairman said that at that rate the saloon would grow faster than the town.

Messrs. Robertson and Chas Cook did not believe in the reduction of the fee as $500 was not too much. Mr. Cook saying that what a saloon could pay in one place it could pay in another. The principal contention at the late election had been the reduction of number of saloons and the increase of license was taken as the most feasible manner of securing this result.

The chairman then arranged for a meeting of the board for Thursday evening when the ordinance will be in proper form for passage.

The city engineer presented a supplemental report on street improvement informing the board that the modifications and changes would not increase the expense to property owners for macadamizing the streets.

A resolution embodying the modified specifications was read and after alterations so that they should read for the subgrade and each course of rock to be rolled before being measured for thickness of layer, it was adopted.

A communication was received from H. H. Henderson, an expert in designing water supply systems in which he said that a system with two compartment tank and automatic inter-locking air chambers can be built for $20,000.

He also said that the scheme proposed by Mr. Merrill is correct in its conception and can easily be enlarged to meet any increase in the growth of this city.

Beege and Henderson had previous to the sending of the above communication visited the Dinges property and selected a site for a reservoir.

The chairman stated that he had been talking with Mr. Dinges and informed him that a site for the reservoir had been selected at the end of Eighth street extension at an elevation sufficient to give requisite pressure for all service. That conditional upon the passage of a bond issue he accepted the offer and reservoir of 600,000 gallons capacity, and that the latter should deed to the town the site and sufficient laid around the same. That the town would run pipe through Dinges' property according to its ability to do so, still reserving the right to discriminate between the delivery upon Dinges' land and that of any other consumer.

The clerk was directed to communicate with Mr. Dinges and inform him of the board's action.

No bids having been received for sweeping or sprinkling the streets, re-advertising was ordered and June 15, was set as the time for opening bids.

The map of a subdivision of Redwood Farm was rejected on account of streets not being up to the width adopted by the board.

The Frank Tanning Co. was granted permission to repair the deep water road at its own expense.

Communications were received

ROSS OR COLEMAN?

The republican party is looking to San Mateo county for congressional timber and among the prospective candidates mentioned by the San Francisco dailies are George C. Ross and J. H. Coleman, chairman of the board of supervisors of the county. If nominated either would be a sure winner for both have a strong following in this district. Mr. Coleman while not an orator is a good business man with a pleasing personality that would win him friends in Congress. He could render good service to his constituents. Mr. Ross also has all the qualifications to make him a successful congressman. He is an able speaker and well drilled in the law and one who would make thorough canvass of the district. The fact that the recent state convention selected him as a delegate from this district to the national convention at Chicago shows his high standing.

The following report was received from the County entomologist: Gentlemen—I have the honor to make the following report on entomological conditions in the county during the past month. Mosquito conditions in the district where control work is being done are about the same as last month. Not as great amount of oiling has been necessary and no new conditions have arisen. In part of the county the California oak caterpillar is devastating the oak trees. While damage is for the most part only unsightly, still the trees are rather weakened and it is certainly unpleasant to have the caterpillars around, and where it is possible to spray for them it ought to be done. The common poison sprays Paris green or arsenate of lead are both very satisfactory in the control of this insect. Tent caterpillars are very common in the apple orchards around Pescadero. This is another insect that is easily controlled and considerable would be saved to the orchardists if they would attend to it. Respectfully submitted, J. S. Hunter.

The report of the health officer is as follows: To the honorable Board of Supervisors: Gentlemen: I herein submit my monthly report ending May 31, 1908. The health of the county has been somewhat better than the past few months. Scarlet fever cases have been quarantined and no new developments except in the Vista Grande district, which has been quarantined, also one in the lower end of the county which was also quarantined in the lower end of the county. Have issued 591 burial permits and collected $591 therefor, and 19 disinterment permits for which $190 have been collected, making a total of $781, deposited with the Treasurer. D. B. Plymire, Health Officer.

The reports of county officials were received as follows: County Clerk Nash reported that he has collected $175.40 clerk's fees and $30 as law library tax.

Recorder Johnston reported the collection of $731.20 fees.

Assessor Hayward reported that he had collected as state poll tax, $640; personal property tax, $949.95; $153; balance, $1436.95.

A tax collector, C. L. McCracken has collected for state and county taxes, $1705.05; Redwood City taxes, $125.90; Redwood City taxes, $125.90; Redwood City taxes, $125.90; Redwood City taxes, $125.90.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Blackburn the clerk was instructed to notify M. Grant who owned the cribbing under the dome of the court house, to remove same within three days or the county would do it at his expense.

Competitive plans for two bridges on the Mission road in the first township were accepted and the clerk directed to advertise for bids according to law.

Pettigrew informed the board that his client is prevented from obtaining ingress to, or egress from her property at Hillcrest by obstructions placed in front of her property, and asked that the board take action towards abatement of the same. Referred to the supervisor of the First township.

The matter of the incorporation of the own of Colma was taken up at the suggestion of H. W. Brown, who represented the petition. He filed additional affidavits and the three parties who secured the signatures to the petition were sworn in and the signatures were all genuine residents and property owners in the territory included in the proposed incorporation. On motion of Eikenkotter seconded by MacBain further hearing was continued to Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

POPULAR COUNTY CLERK TAKES A LIFE PARTNER

JOSEPH H. NASH.

Joseph H. Nash, the popular County Clerk, was quietly married to Miss Lizzie M. Wienke at the home of the bride's parents at Moss Beach last Tuesday. Only the intimate friends of the young couple were present. After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Nash departed on the Ocean Shore railroad for San Francisco. Next day they started for the East. After spending some time there they will proceed to Toronto, Canada, where Mr. Nash will attend the convention of the Independent Order of Foresters, he being a delegate to represent the State of California. Mr. Nash is a very popular official and has a host of friends all over the county. He was born near San Mateo and attended the schools of the county. He taught school for awhile, but gave this up to follow business pursuits. The bride is a popular teacher and has taught in the Montara school for some years. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wienke, owner of the beautiful Moss Beach. Mr. Nash has built a cozy bungalow in Wellesley Park and will arrive here from Portland, Or., about July 10th to occupy this comfortable home. We are joined with their many friends in wishing the young couple a happy wedded life.

for a license to solicit orders for soap at Redwood City was referred to MacBain.

TUESDAY'S MEETING.

This being the day set for taking up the matter of the incorporation of South San Francisco, the clerk read several petitions. The Steiger Pottery works did not want to be included in the proposed incorporation for the reason that they would be hampered with municipal ordinances etc. For the same reasons the United Railroads protested against incorporation. Attorney H. W. Brown then read the petition in full. At the conclusion of the reading, Samuel Knight declared he represented the Benicia Iron works, the Home Protective Association and would protest against incorporation. He said the main purpose of the incorporation was to secure the Smelter, which would be included in the present boundaries were adopted. The ordinance adopted by the board recently, regulating the operation of smelters in the county would become ineffective. The board would lose control. Even if the boundary did not include the smelter it could be annexed later on. Mr. Knight did not think it proper to grant the prayer of the petition when a large portion of the county would be ruined by the fumes from the smelter. The board would be powerless to grant any relief.

H. W. Brown replied by calling attention to the law in the case. He said it was imperative to grant the prayer of the petition, the only discretion the board had was in fixing the boundary lines, they could increase or decrease them. He declared he was in legal form and action must be taken. The smelter had no part in the discussion. If any one were injured remedy could be found by injunction in the courts. Geo. C. Ross made an eloquent appeal against incorporation on the present lines. His client, the Home Protective Association, D. O. Mills and Crocker Estate Company strongly opposed it. He said the water front should not be in the incorporation, that manufacturers came there to get away from municipal hindrances and petty annoyance and that territory should be excluded. He called attention to the ruin that would be done by the smelter, how plant life would suffer and what ruin would be brought to the Peninsula. He closed with a strong appeal to cut down the boundary lines so as not to include the smelter property.

W. J. Martin favored the petition. He ridiculed the idea that the smelter figured in the question of incorporation. The people wanted good streets, sewers, etc., and this was the only legal way to secure them. Judge Cunningham made a strong argument for incorporation. He claimed that new sidewalks, good streets, and good street light system would bring home seekers to South City and the only remedy the people had was to incorporate.

Harry E. Styles made a strong argument in favor of the petition pointing out the legal phase of the question.

E. I. Woodman also spoke at some length in favor of the petition.

After the long discussion Eikenkotter moved that the prayer of the petition be granted and the motion was seconded by Debenedetti, MacBain moved that all that portion

Mrs. B. Cullen

Mrs. Bridget Cullen, one of the oldest and best beloved pioneers of Redwood City, passed away Tuesday, June 2nd, after an illness of three months. She had been confined to her rooms for that period by a general breaking up of the system. The deceased came to this city 45 years ago and was closely identified with its business interest up until the time of her demise. She came here when Redwood City was a small hamlet and watched its growth with pride. Mrs. Cullen was a good Christian woman, devoted to her family and considerate of her neighbors. Through hard work and careful economy of herself and husband a comfortable fortune was made. The tragic death of her husband in this city fifteen years ago was a severe shock to her and she never fully recovered from it. Mrs. Cullen was held in high esteem by all the people of Redwood City and by all who knew her. Those who knew her best are the loudest in singing her praises. When she laid down life's burden it could be truly said she had done her work well.

Mrs. Cullen was born in Ireland 70 years ago but came to this country when quite young. Four sons remain to mourn her, James, Cornelius, John and Charles Cullen. The funeral took place from the Catholic church Thursday morning and a large number of friends followed the remains of this good woman to Holy Cross cemetery at Menlo Park where the interment took place. The pall bearers were Jas. R. Doyle, P. J. Maloney, Matthew Hedger, William Brown, John Curran and James Hannon.

On the Diamond

Last Sunday the Redwood Ball team played the Guest Stables of San Francisco. The latter team was defeated by a score of 12 to 6. Tomorrow the local boys will go to San Mateo to play the San Mateo team.

A large crowd of local fans will accompany our players, and as usual with the San Mateo games, an exciting time is expected. Joe Botto will be back in the game after being laid up for several weeks with a sprained ankle. Heine Jansen is back in Frisco, having quit the Nashville (Tenn.) team to go into business with his brother in San Francisco, and it is expected that he will play with the Redwood team tomorrow.

This game is to be the first of a series of five with San Mateo. Next Sunday the game between these two teams will be played on the local diamond.

Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock the All Redwood team will play the South San Francisco on the Redwood grounds. Last Sunday at Menlo the All Redwoods defeated the Menlo Park team by a score of 24 to 4. It was a shame to take the money that game was the ninth straight victory for the All Redwoods, they having lost their first two games, and won the rest.
